unprecedented global growth!*

*“the future of Enagic, ...
it.... is....
YOU...”*

Message from Mr. Ohshiro

The future of Enagic has never been of worry to me. I've been told time and again that "I'd fail, give it up, go home, it's no use." You see, I've been told "I WON'T MAKE IT." By more than a few. By those bigger than me, those "challenged" by me and those in spite of me. Each attempted to take my dream from me.

Don't let that happen to you. The future of Enagic will ALWAYS be bright. It will always be a story of overcoming adversity, of rising above challenges that would sink most, of delivering a message of universal HOPE when others snicker and scrunch up their noses. Because the future of Enagic,... it.... is.... YOU....

That's why I'll never worry about the future of Enagic. Because the same adversities, the same prejudices, the same illusionary constraints that people tried to force on me decades ago can't possibly chain the Ultimate Will of the people in Enagic TODAY. We are growing by leaps and bounds globally because people believe in our mission to deliver True Health to each and every family on this planet. That's not a dream, folks. That's a Purpose Ordained in Conviction.

So the question then becomes, what's YOUR future in Enagic? What will YOU do to prosper our True Health mission? Who will you enlighten to the liberation-message of Enagic? Which family will be rescued because YOU came forth, YOU stood resolute in your faith in our message, YOU tossed aside the doubters?

I'm in this with you. I'm going nowhere. Count me in! We've got an amazing future to paint and I'm handing out the brushes! So go searching for canvases we can paint with the message of True Health and never let a single person tell you that you can't do it.

The future of Enagic is and has always been wondrous, amazing and liberating. The reason: YOU'RE involved!

Supreme Kindness,
Hironari Ohshiro

Lori Ellis 6A2

"I walked away from a job... and stepped further into my PURPOSE!"

As a health coach, nutritionist and certified fitness trainer, Lori Ellis knew quite a bit about health. In fact, she instilled in her fitness clients the absolute need for proper hydration. But upon experiencing Enagic's Kangen Water during a demonstration by a friend, she knew she'd found THE best thing to share with her clients!

Prior to Enagic, in Lori's own words "I was a single mom, divorced, living in debt, working 12 to 14 hours a day... and spinning my wheels financially. I was overly stressed emotionally just trying to help my daughter go to the college she wanted to attend, and I didn't have the time nor the resources back then to do that for her. When I found Enagic or rather IT FOUND ME, I knew I was going to be able to help myself, my family, and my clients in an even more powerful way than ever before. And I'd also found a company whose mission I could truly believe in and align with passionately. I'm living the life now that would've never been possible before."

Lori extensively researched both Enagic and Kangen Water. Both she and her husband Michael immediately felt fully hydrated, had better endurance and were energized. This is their 50's! So Lori began sharing Kangen Water with more and more of her clients. In fact, she called everyone she knew: ex-clients, gym owners, trainers, etc. She conducted a Kangen Water demo every week for six straight weeks and brought Kangen Water to the gym for sampling. In no time, her team was being built!

Lori shares "When I realized what I had in my hands with our life-changing systems, with our incredible company and business, I knew I had found THE way to be able to do my part to help reverse the damage to our planet, help animals and the habitat and people live better lives."

Lori and her husband have recognized the true mission of Enagic and have been extremely fortunate to have also noticed major positive changes in their lives. Their fitness levels have skyrocketed, Lori's debt has been paid off and they have enjoyed the fruits of wonderful friends. Lori remarks, "I feel emotionally revived!"

Her advice for people wishing to build a thriving team in Enagic? "The best advice I can give anyone when building a team is to keep it SIMPLE and share with COMPASSION our mission of True Health. Remember what we have in our hands is truly the most powerful way to help someone change their life for the better."

My Trip To Japan: A Return To Origin

An Enagic Editorial by An Anonymous Distributor

As an Enagic distributor for over seven years, I had always wanted to go to Japan to visit the birthplace of this incredible company. But, as it often happens in life, I made excuse after excuse as to why I could not make the trip. Some were legitimate, with major scheduling conflicts, but, honestly, most of them were pretty weak, being more about the trip not being convenient and the thought of the 10 to 12 hour flight, plus all of the hassles at the airport etc. etc. etc.

It just didn't seem like it would ever happen but then the announcement was made about Mr. Ohshiro's 76th birthday celebration and the Enagic convention at the E8PA resort in Okinawa, Japan.

I had recently purchased my Enagic 8 Prosperity Association membership card, so I was one of the people eligible to attend the convention. After years of making excuses, I decided that it was time for me to see the origins of Enagic with my own eyes. I was going to "return to origin" for the very first time!

Best decision ever!

If you are like me, even in the slightest, and plan to make Enagic your sole career choice, visiting the birthplace of this company is an absolute must. I'll be honest, the long plane ride and airport delays were nowhere near what I had made them out to be in my mind. In fact, I got through security and onto the plane pretty smoothly. I watched a couple of movies, ate a couple of meals, got a couple of hours sleep and, next thing I knew, I was walking into the Tokyo airport and headed towards Japanese Customs.

My stay in Tokyo was short, it was less than a two-hour layover, and it was a short flight to Osaka, home of the Enagic factory. There were actually a few fellow distributors on my first flight and we met up with even more on the flight to Osaka. Within just a few short hours we were all on the cleanest and quietest tour bus I had ever seen, being driven to our hotel in the downtown Osaka district.

The next day was a nonstop whirlwind tour of the Enagic factory, Osaka Castle and an amazing area of Osaka filled with shops, vendors and incredible foods.

We started with a bus ride to the factory. This second bus was just as clean as the previous day.

As we travel through Osaka, I couldn't help but notice how incredibly clean the city was. No trash on the roadways. No graffiti. Even the vehicles on the road looked exceptionally clean. At one point I noticed a commercial truck of some sort driving next to us and it looked brand-new and I mean like right off the dealership lot!

I ended up asking one of the Enagic employees about this, wondering if it might actually be against the law to drive a dirty car in Japan. The explanation was simple; Japanese people take pride in their belongings and just want their vehicles to look as nice as possible. I was so impressed with this that I actually took a few random pictures of some of the commercial vehicles we passed.

I was very impressed with this first exposure to Japan. Being from a larger metropolitan area in the United States, I've gotten used to trash littering the highways and graffiti sprawled on anything that doesn't move, and sometimes on things that do. It was a stark comparison between what I was seeing and what I had left behind in America.

The truth behind the quality, integrity and pride of our products was starting to make much more sense to me. I was realizing that the term "Made in Japan" was more than three simple words - it is an ideology that strives for perfection; and the Enagic products were no exception.

When we arrived at the factory we were greeted by factory staff, welcoming each of us with big smiles and bowing in the traditional Japanese style. Because of language barriers, the staff politely gestured for us to come inside to get out of the cold, so we did.

I want to be sure to mention one thing that really surprised me: the size of everything. Pictures do not do any of the Enagic locations any justice! The factory is much bigger than it looks in pictures and so was the resort. The grand scale of these locations is totally lost in two-dimensional pictures.

I think this is one of the reasons that personally visiting the Enagic locations in Japan is an absolute must for distributors. Until you personally visit and see these locations it is hard to truly comprehend what we are all a part of.

Once we got inside we were greeted by more Enagic factory staff. They treated all of us like old friends they hadn't seen in ages. Smiles. Laughter. Hugs. The mood was so welcoming. It was an atmosphere more like a party than a "factory tour".

Once we got settled inside, we prepared for the factory tour. In the spirit of Japanese efficiency, groups were organized and people were whisked off to see where and how the incredible Enagic products are manufactured.

During the factory tour, I was once again surprised. The efficiency of the production layout, the way everything flowed, was amazing. We were able to watch the process for a few minutes and I studied it carefully, wanting to get the most out of this rare opportunity.

Each technician worked more like an artist than your typical factory worker. Each movement was precise and intentional, with a very specific end result. The speed and accuracy by which these machines are put together, by hand mind you, was mind-boggling. Every inch of the factory is designed for maximum efficiency and productivity.

When you take into consideration that land prices in Japan are some of the highest on earth, I was very impressed to find out that the two-story Enagic factory facility sits on a nearly 27,000 square-foot lot. And this is just one of the many Enagic properties. I was told that the new E8PA resort & E8PA amenities, and the rest of the Enagic properties in Japan, are situated on over 400 acres of land.

After machines are assembled, the finished products make their way to the quality control technicians, where every machine is tested for proper operation. Every machine! Water is passed through every machine to ensure that it performs according to the product specification. That is a level of quality control nearly unmatched in this or any other industry. Even the packaging of the machines and boxing them up for shipment was impressive. Add to that the state of the art equipment located throughout the factory and it is no wonder why the Enagic products have been given the distinction as the gold standard of the industry.

After the tour the attendees were treated to a delicious bento box lunch and, of course, all the Kangen Water we could drink. Immediately following lunch was an informative Q&A session with the top factory managers. Many great questions were asked, but the response which impressed me the most was regarding the factory production capabilities.

The factory is currently producing approximately 600 machines per day for a total of approximately 12,000 units per month, which, with the existing global inventory, is enough to handle the current orders. The factory production manager explained that the factory was prepared and able to nearly double their production efforts as Enagic distributors close in on the goal of 20,000 units per month.

Having this capability shows that Enagic is truly ready to assume the massive undertaking that accompanies delivering 20,000 of these devices each month.

After the amazing factory tour we boarded back onto the buses and were taken for an incredible tour of the Osaka Castle.

The grounds of the castle are massive and the scale of the surrounding area is almost beyond comprehension. Every step through the castle was like traveling back through time. While the castle was a truly impressive spectacle to behold, the story of the origins of the man behind the castle were even more incredible.

After hearing the story, it actually reminded me of the story of Mr. Ohshiro. He started from very humble beginnings and after many years of hard work, dedication and determination Mr. Ohshiro has built his own castle; the Enagic Castle.

Unlike the Osaka Castle, which resides in the heart of Osaka, Japan, the Enagic Castle resides in every nation on earth, with the strength of its walls and towers living in the hearts of every distributor around the globe. The grandeur of the Osaka Castle represents the people of Japan, but the Enagic Ohshiro Castle represents the entire world.

After the castle tour we went to a famous shopping area in Osaka, where we shopped the duty-free stores and enjoyed local foods prepared by street vendors. It was nonstop action, as the area was teeming with people. It was truly a sight to see to believe!

The next day we were off to the airport once more to fly down to Okinawa for the convention and Mr. Ohshiro's birthday celebration. After the short flight we arrived in Okinawa, and we were welcomed by two beautiful ladies adorned in traditional Japanese outfits and about a dozen Enagic staff members.

We were again taken to transportation buses to take us to our respective resort locations. After arriving at our resort, we settled into our rooms and prepared for the excitement that awaited us at the convention the next day.

Arriving at the main facility of the E8PA resort was an unexpected surprise. Pictures of the resort have been posted on social media sites and they simply do not do the facility any justice. It is much, much bigger than I had expected! There were Enagic staff everywhere, welcoming every person as they arrived.

People were taking pictures and saying hello to fellow distributors. Once again there was energy in the air that is absolutely impossible to manufacture. It was a feeling of excitement, hope and the power that is created when big dreams come true! It was an electricity that was completely contagious and flowing through every inch of the resort.

The day started with an opening video of Mr. Ohshiro story growing up in Okinawa, followed by an uplifting speech by Mr. Ohshiro. This was followed by an informative seminar conducted by Enagic master instructors and some of the top distributors from around the world.

After the first half of the day there was a break for lunch, where all the attendees enjoyed a beautiful bento box, adorned with a red commemorative napkin, filled with delicious Japanese cuisine.

In the afternoon the seminar resumed and more excellent information was shared with distributors. The day ended with the attendees traveling back to the respective resorts and enjoying the rest of the evening making new friends and reconnecting with old ones.

The following day started with the Enagic Convention. It was awesome! People were dressed up and everyone was very excited. Mr. Ohshiro opened the day with another riveting speech and had the attendees on their feet cheering for more by the time he finished. It then came time to recognize the distributors who had attained the ranks of 6A and above. Distributors had traveled from all over the world to be a part of this ranking ceremony.

Starting with the new 6A's, each person came to the stage when their name was called and Mr. Ohshiro personally greeted them, presented them with their title incentive check and congratulated them for their achievement. One by one they came to the stage and the stage filled up. Then they called the new 6A2's. Once again, names were called and the stage filled up. Then the new 6A2-2's. Then things got real serious! New 6A2-3's were called and they came to the stage. Name after name was called, indicating that more and more distributors were achieving higher ranks in the company. Then they called the new 6A2-4's and the 6A2-5's.

The ranking ceremony ended with two new 6A2-6's, currently the highest distributor ranking in the world and now shared by only three distributors, being presented with title incentive checks that were absolutely unbelievable. I'm not sure of the exact total, but the amount of incentives which were presented to the distributors for their outstanding achievements had to be several million dollars. I think the most exciting part for most of those not appearing on stage that day was everyone knowing we all have the potential to someday be receiving one of those checks and having Mr. Ohshiro shake our hand and congratulate us. The feeling was so powerful that I'm smiling about it again, as I write these words.

After the ranking ceremony we all went to check out the rest of the E8PA Resort while they got the room ready for Mr. Ohshiro's big birthday bash. In just a few short hours they had transformed the room into a sit down dinner banquet hall ready for over 400 eager party goers wanting to wish Mr. Ohshiro a very happy birthday.

The evening started with Mr. Ohshiro addressing the group and thanking them for being there to help him and his family celebrate his birthday. He ended his speech by asking everyone to join him in a traditional Japanese toast. Everyone raised their glasses and shouted "Kanpai". He then got the festivities started by giving away a few "gifts" to others; by presenting the E8PA members with checks for the extra money they had earned by being E8PA members.

This was followed by the start of a multi course meal and a live band on stage. After the band played a few songs and people ate the delicious course after course, traditional Japanese dancers came to the stage and performed a beautiful routine.

This was followed by an impressive martial arts display by the master of a local dojo and his son, who ended the demonstration by performing an unbelievable feat of focus and strength by breaking a wooden baseball bat in half on his shin. The room was absolutely quite as he prepared for this dangerous and difficult stunt. The silence was shattered with a loud yell as he focused his energy and the bat was swung at his leg. The bat, like the silence, was shattered and broke in half. The room exploded with applause and cheers. It was amazing!

After this Mr. Ohshiro was presented with gifts distributors had brought him for his birthday. A long line of distributors came to the stage, where they gave Mr. Ohshiro his gifts. After this we finished the delicious meal with the desserts just as Mr. Ohshiro came back on stage in traditional Japanese garb and his shamisen.

He was joined on stage with several female distributors, and one top male distributor dressed as a female, also dressed in traditional Japanese costumes. Mr. Ohshiro played, while the ladies and "lady" acted as his back up dancers. By the time he was done playing, everyone was on their feet, clapping and cheering, and the stage was filled with forty or fifty people.

The night was concluded with a special speech and toast by a top New York Enagic Distributor. It was a moving speech and Mr. Ohshiro was genuinely touched by the outpouring of love from everyone in attendance. Just when everyone thought the night was over, we were all asked to step out the back for a VERY special surprise.

Once Mr. and Mrs. Ohshiro were outside on a small stage set up in a large grassy area, and everyone else was outside, there was a countdown that triggered an amazing fireworks display, including a huge sign of fireworks wishing Mr. Ohshiro a Happy Birthday!

It was the perfect ending to a most incredible day!

沖縄美ら海水族館 OKINAWA CHURAUMI AQUARIUM

The next day we divided into two groups, those who wanted to play golf at the resort and those who wanted to go sightseeing. I went sightseeing. We started at the Okinawa Churaumi Aquarium, which has the third largest fish tank in the world, almost 2 million gallons in one tank! Everyone enjoyed taking pictures and seeing the incredible sea life.

After that we went to lunch and then we were off to see the Enagic bowling alley and the Enagic Spa & Hot Springs. Both were incredible!

We started at the Enagic bowling alley. If you like to bowl and have been to a high tech alley, then you would not be disappointed! Not only did we get to bowl a few games, we also got to watch some professional bowlers display their talents on the lanes. It was a lot of fun and I can't wait to go back and make some more Enagic strikes!

After bowling we went to the spa. The spa and hot springs was a very big facility; it even has a very large restaurant upstairs. We didn't have very much time at the spa, so all we could do was look around a little. Although we didn't have much time, I was impressed with what I saw and I am looking forward to returning so I can soak in the hot spring and get a soothing massage!

After the short spa tour we got back on the buses and headed to our final night at the Southern Beach Hotel & Resort. It is a beautiful hotel with views of the harbor on one side and the ocean on the other. The beach was literally right across the street. We got to the hotel a bit late in the evening, but we arrived just in time for a delicious buffet dinner service. It was the perfect ending to a long, but absolutely enjoyable day!

The next morning we checked out of the hotel and went to the airport. We departed Okinawa, headed to the Tokyo airport, where, after a short layover, we were on the flight back to the United States.

It was such a full trip, seeing so many incredible things and meeting so many incredible people. But it all went by so fast; I couldn't believe that it was over. During the flight home, I reflected on my journey and what I had gotten from it. Here is my "take away" from this amazing trip to Japan and Okinawa...

The thing I took from Japan, besides a bunch of souvenirs for my family and friends, is how I need to conduct my business with a Japanese mindset. I don't mean that I will suddenly start eating Sushi all the time and rice with every meal, I mean that I will start running my day to day business operations using the Japanese ideology I discovered during my trip. Each day I will focus on honor, self improvement, integrity, duty, selflessness and efficiency. I did all of these things in my business before, but not with FOCUS! I am going to truly focus on these components of my business and try my best to replicate the astonishing business success of our Japanese counterparts. I am going to try to embody the spirit of Japan. I am going to challenge myself every day to be a better sponsor; a better mentor; a better leader; a better distributor.

If you are serious about your future with Enagic, then you need to go to Japan and experience the origins of this amazing company. I had heard people who had made the journey say it was “life changing” and I figured it was just hype for the company. I can assure you 100%, it’s not hype. It is absolutely for real. It will change your life!

I discovered more about this incredible company in a few short days than I had in the over seven years I have been a distributor and, I think in doing so, I may have even discovered a few things about myself. When I left for Japan I knew I would be visiting the birthplace of the company, but I honestly had no idea I would experience the literal heart and soul of Enagic.

And I have a special message of thanks for Mr. Ohshiro: although my “Return To Origin” was to a place I had never been to before, it felt like a home coming. And now that I’m gone, I can’t wait to go back!

Enagic Romania

The first Enagic product was sold in Romania in 2009. In just four short years the market size had increased enough for Enagic to open a local office. In 2013 the Enagic Romania Training Center was opened to help the distributors develop their businesses and support the growing number of end user customers. Anca and Roxana, the lead Enagic staff members at the Romania office, provide sales assistance and product maintenance to both distributors and customers. The office includes a demonstration room, with a capacity of 20-30 persons, and a large seminar room, with a capacity of over 100 people. The goal of the Romania office is to help distributors improve their business by providing demo assistance, business seminars, sales guidance, sharing the company vision of true health and explaining how to get the most out of the Enagic products.

The office stays very busy and water demos and seminars are conducted almost every day of the week. The office also holds quarterly 6A meetings and business seminars. Although the Romania office staff has done an amazing job, the success of this office did not happen alone. Enagic colleagues from Germany office helped a lot, especially when the office was first opened. Staff members from that office already had a lot of experience with the E.U. market and they shared that experience in order to make the opening and running of the Romania office as smooth as possible. Mr. and Mrs. Ohshiro and Germany office manager, Tomo Takabayashi, even showed their support for Romania by personally attending several of their major events. In addition to direct corporate support, the Romania market has also received incredible support from top distributors, including local Romanian leader, Sebastian Popa, and International leaders, Roland Hedge, from France, and Jayvee Pacifico, from the United States.

The Romania office has many excellent distributors building their local and international businesses, but there have been a few distributors who have really stood out. Please allow us to introduce you to two of them.

George Staneiu, 6A2-2:

“My name is George Staneiu , I reached the rank 6A 2-2 in the Enagic business, my profession is accountant and I found out about Kangen Water in march 2010 from someone I didn't knew before, Sebastian Popa, who, meanwhile became one of the most important leaders in European Enagic business. I bought this machine for me and my family, for our health, and I never thought that I will sell Enagic units which produce Kangen Water and that I will do this business full time. But seeing that Sebastian quit all classic businesses and was involved exclusively in Enagic, I said that it's time for me to make a change in my life and devote more attention to Enagic, using Sebastian as my model.

Slowly, with small and sure steps, I started to promote and develop this business with my younger brother Lucian Staneiu, who is also a distributor with the rank of 6A2. Although we faced challenges, we have experience tremendous success with Enagic. I recommend that all Enagic distributors get involved at the maximum level, because the results will soon come and they will be pleased from all points of view. Thanks to the Enagic Company, especially to Mr Ohshiro, who created this fantastic financial opportunity for all of us, at the same time to the Germany office, Mr. Tomo Takabayashi, Davide Romano, Valeriya Vinarto, without them I wouldn't be here. Many thanks to all the distributors and all of the contributors."

Lucian Staneiu, 6A2 :

"My name is Lucian Staneiu, rank 6A2, I am an IT software engineer and economist. I heard about Kangen Water from my brother, George Staneiu, and together we've develop this business, sharing with others the benefits of Kangen Water and the marketing plan. We combine our professions with the Enagic business, we really enjoy what we are doing and we wish that everyone can develop their own successful Enagic business. We would like to thank all our contributors, the Dusseldorf staff and, of course, Mr. Ohshiro for all their support."

Enagic Portugal

The Enagic Portugal office was opened in May of 2013, so they will be celebrating their 4 year anniversary this month! The office staff and local distributors have been very busy over the past few months and they have gotten 2017 off to a tremendous start!

They started with great energy on the Iberian Peninsula, where several seminars were conducted in Oporto, Lisbon, Vigo and Cantabria. At each seminar distributors passionately spoke about their experiences with Enagic, shared their personal stories and new 6A achievers were recognized for their achievements.

The Enagic events create a powerful connection between the attendees, and these seminars were a great tool to inspire new distributors, who recently started their Enagic business. They are excited and ready to meet and exceed their goals for this year!

Local distributor leaders have been the driving force behind the continued success of Enagic Portugal. Their participation in the seminars has continued to inspire people to discover the benefits of True Health and encouraged them to become part of the Enagic business. Enagic Florida

The Enagic Florida office continues to be a very busy office, for both staff and distributors. We recently added a new member, Micah Patterson, to our sales team staff. He has been a great help assisting in the sales duties, inventories, customer service duties and preparing for shipments. The Florida market continues to be a very active location for U.S. sales and we continue to produce more and more distributor leaders.

We conducted a recent 6A meeting and distributor event and recognized distributors who had attained the rank of 6A or above. Local distributor leader 6A4-2 Brian Welch helped with the event, acting as the MC, the audio tech and the video guy! He is a man of many talents! It was a very successful event and everyone in attendance had a fantastic time.

The Florida office will no longer be a direct shipping location for “machines”, there was a notice regarding this change sent out at the first of the year. We will continue to have machines, UKON and supplies available for PICK UP customers and will accept EXPEDITED SHIPPING requests for a nominal additional charge.

The Florida office has seen many successful distributors, but we wanted to spotlight a very special distributor leader who has been instrumental in helping develop the Florida market. We mentioned earlier in this article how he helped so much at the recent event, but we know what an asset he is to Enagic and we really wanted to allow everyone to get to know Brian Welch a little bit better, so we asked Brian to introduce himself and say a few words to the Enagic global distributors.

“I would like to start off by thanking Mr. Oshiro and the entire staff of Enagic. I am so grateful for all of their hard work, as it has provided me the best opportunity for “true physical health, true financial health and true peace of mind” in my lifetime!

I have been in network marketing for over 33 years with various other organizations that focus on health and wellness, but I have finally found the company I want to spend the rest of my life in. The lifestyle this opportunity has given me allows me to take care of my 91 year old mother and give her more of my time and attention than I ever could in any other industry. I have been able to travel and experience new places, meet new people and introduce them to this amazing product.

What drives me in this business is the fact I can help so many people change their life by educating them on the importance of hydration and in turn, improve their finances so they can achieve dreams they never thought possible. Everyone drinks water so we have to show them that we have the best water and the best opportunity for success both physically and financially. I'm not in the convincing business I believe through proper education of the value of what we have people make an intelligent decision to invest in their health and their lifestyle. Remember always lead with the value of our product not the price. When you start with the price, the value becomes meaningless.

Over the last 7 years, I've built a solid team of people that I am so grateful for. It's an honor to partner with like-minded people and help them build their business. One thing that is very important to me is to always thank them and let them know how much I appreciate them. I believe what you put out into the world comes back to you so I take every opportunity to tell my team how grateful I am for them."

Branch News

Enagic HQ – Okinawa, Japan

The Enagic Group recently held its 2017 company orientation at the E8PA facility in Nago City, Okinawa, Japan.

In addition to a traditional new employee company “orientation”, there was also a special ceremony held to welcome thirteen new Enagic employees. Enagic feels it is important to introduce new employees not only to the company, as it pertains to their duties, but the company as it pertains to the philosophy and culture. Enagic strives to ensure that each employee understands the meaning behind True Health and that, as an employee of Enagic, they are now a part of that concept and the ultimate mission of the company. And Mr. Ohshiro wants each new employee to feel welcome to Enagic, so the company goes out of their way to make sure that sentiment is extended to each and every new employee right from the start.

AJGA Enagic Junior Championship in USA

In April 2017, the Enagic Junior Championship in Asia final qualifying tournament was held at the Enagic Sedake Golf Country Club. There were about a total of 60 qualifiers from Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, Taiwan and Japan who participated in the competition. The top 3 players of each division were from Enagic Golf Academy. Top qualifiers of this tournament will compete in the AJGA Enagic Junior Championship (Wilshire Country Club, LA) from Aug 14th. Mr. Ohshiro's aim and desire is to help young people pursue and achieve their "American Dream".

Tokyo Journey to 2020

With laser focus, Mr. Ohshiro is leading the journey to Tokyo 2020. He has decided that, just like all of Japan and the rest of the world, Enagic is going to maximize the attention and recognition that will be created by the 2020 Olympic Games and catapult the company to gold.

Just like the athletes who will participate in their respective sports, Enagic, and all of the distributors, should start preparing for what is to come. Preparation for the Tokyo 2020 games will come in many forms and distributors can use them as an example of how to establish and build their own businesses.

One of the things that the city of Tokyo will start with is finding the correct places for each of the different sporting events. In some cases they will be existing structures / locations, like stadiums and aquatic centers. But some of the locations will be built specifically for the Olympics.

You may be wondering how this example translates into something helpful for distributors? This is a perfect example about conducting live meetings. When you are building your business, you should look for an existing meeting, one which will accommodate your needs and provide the right environment to help you build your team. However, just like Tokyo, there will be places that simply will not have the right amenities, so they will have to be built. This is when there is no local meeting near you and you decide to be the one to build it. It will take planning, and building the foundation may be hard, but once it is built, you will have your own place to share information about Enagic, Kangen Water and True Health.

Like the Tokyo, the athletes who will be competing will also be preparing for 2020. But they won't be building locations to compete; they will be building their bodies, training hard in an attempt to prove that they are the best in the world. These athletes come from all over the world and have diverse skills and abilities, but they all have one thing in common. Something that is absolutely essential when it comes to competing on an Olympic level. A coach.

Mr. Ohshiro knows that 2020 represents a tremendous opportunity for Enagic, especially in Tokyo, as the eyes of the world will be focused on this amazing city. As such, he has decided to personally dedicate a lot of time and attention to the Enagic Tokyo office. In fact, he has committed to conduct seminars at the Tokyo office, as he leads the journey to 2020.

Mr. Ohshiro has taken on the role of "coach" for the distributors lucky enough to attend these seminars. He is using his personal approach, the same approach that built the Enagic we know today, and sharing his secrets to success. Like any good coach he knows that it will take a lot of training and hard work in order to be the best. And he has challenged himself to assume the responsibility to be the driving force behind the distributor training in Japan. He has already personally conducted several seminars at the Enagic Tokyo office to standing room only audiences. He is committed to make the journey to 2020 a victorious one.

What distributors need to do is make the same type of commitment. Top leaders will need to follow Mr. Ohshiro's coaching and then, in turn, use the information they have learned to train other distributors. Those distributors will focus on this training in order to become Olympic level performers.

Mr. Ohshiro is leading the way to a successful 2020 for Enagic. All distributors need to do is be willing to train hard and go for the gold!

Tech Talk

Plate Construction

When it comes to the quality and effectiveness of the water produced by a water ionizer, the construction of the electrode plates is one of the most important components.

There are three main types of plate construction used in the water ionizer industry today:

- solid
- mesh
- slotted

Solid plates are the most durable plate design, with the longest lifespan; they are also the most expensive to produce, which is why they are typically used in only the highest quality water ionizers. Physical contact between the water and the plate is one of the most important aspects of the ionization process. A solid plate allows for the greatest amount of physical contact of all the plate designs, because the water is constantly in contact with a surface. The design of the solid plate also makes it the most durable and least prone to calcium buildup. A solid plate provides a flat surface, so there is much less in the way of mineral buildup. With a solid, smooth surface it is more difficult for minerals to collect. What little buildup there is can be easily washed away during the self or manual cleaning process. With mesh or slotted plates, the calcium may collect in the holes and corners of the plate, allowing for rapid mineral buildup and making them very hard to clean.

Solid plates are the preferred design and are the only plate configuration used in the Enagic devices.

Global Education Seminars

Don Prosser
COMMUNICATIONS

Enagic Distributors in Europe got quite a treat as Don Prosser brought his ESPRI to both England and France. Don started England, where he gave the first ever London ESPRI Seminar. ESPRI, i.e. Enagic Success Personal Relationship Ignition, focuses on the meaning of personal relationships in everybody's lives and how they form the foundation of success in life. Building a successful Business as an Enagic Distributor has its basis in mastering human relationships and in understanding how those relationships lead to mutual success.

Don emphasizes the need to first of all present yourself and experience to your prospects, not the water itself. Because without showing the impact Enagic and Kangen Water has had on YOU, the potential of the product remains hidden.

Enagic

ESPRI uses many interactive role-plays, with the aim to introduce, experiment and master the skills necessary to enable growth.

After London, Don jumped on a plane and headed to the brand new Enagic France Office, where attendees learned how to identify the needs of their potential customers and to follow a methodology to close sales. And the results are already amazing! The France office reached both their machine and Ukon targets thanks to all our distributors and staff and the new techniques they learned at the ESPRI Seminar. Enagic Europe definitely wants to offer more of this type of Training in the future!

Success Seminars

Katsumasa Isobe ENAGIC INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION DIRECTOR

The global reach of the Enagic educational seminars continues to spread. This time it reached all the way to Brazil! For two days a success seminar was held by Mr. Isobe. In addition to established active distributors attending this event, Mr' Isobe was joined by many new distributors who recently joined Enagic. The event received such positive reviews and attention that a second success seminar was scheduled in Sao Paulo. These two events really helped expand the Enagic business in Brazil and helped motivate the Brazilian distributors. Enagic is aggressively expanding in Brazil and creating a lot of new business. They hope to have even more people drink Kangen Water and that they will spread the message of True Health.

Stories of Success

A Character-driven Company

“Organizations are alive. Just as people breathe, laugh, cry, and feel sorrow, so too organizations are filled with hope and despair. It’s no surprise, since organizations are run by living, breathing humans. The phrase “corporate culture” was something of a buzzword at one time, and it’s certainly true that each corporation has its own unique accumulation of culture, traditions, and history. Even companies working in the same industry—high tech, for example—will develop different corporate cultures, reflecting the differences in top management and ownership. In a way, corporate culture is like the shadows cast by the owners over their companies. That’s why the culture at Apple is different to that at Hewlett Packard, which is different in turn to corporate culture at IBM. These differences and the cultures in which they are reflected work to create strong corporate identities, which unite employees and becoming the driving force needed to meet the company’s goals.

Culture can’t be built up overnight. But Ohshiro is a charismatic figure. His personality is reflected very directly in his management, and it moves very quickly through the business conducted at Enagic. That’s the mark of Ohshiro’s corporate DNA.

The remarkable accomplishments of the past twelve years are a testament to Ohshiro’s character. The company has grown at an extraordinary speed. One Korean businessman I know has an interesting theory. According to him, a person’s approach to work is a reflection of their national character. What comes next is interesting. Koreans will dig the earth with their hands, he says, while Japanese will use a shovel. Americans, on the other hand, will bring in a bulldozer to do the job. Hands, shovel, machinery. It’s not just the amount of work or the scale of work achievable that changes. It also makes a big difference in terms of whether your goals are short term or longer term. If you bring in a bulldozer, it means you’ve got to already be fixated on a point way past the horizon. But if you’re digging with your hands or with a shovel, the only thing you’re looking at is the hole in front of you. The size of the job ahead will also make a difference to the type of tool you need to use.

Ohshiro’s character means he can sometimes be somewhat brusque. Almost like a bulldozer. Except he’s already halfway across the field before you’ve even got the engine on. It can be hard to keep up. “Do it first, think about it later”, he’ll command. Of course, it’s not possible to do everything with just a bulldozer, especially not work that requires delicacy. That’s why you also need shovels and hands. So instead of standing around sluggishly, pondering and wondering, you should get up, get to it, get to work. And if you end up being wrong, you can fix it as you go, finding solutions and innovations to get back on the right path. That’s Ohshiro’s philosophy. It’s easy to understand, too, if you look back at how he has lived and how he has grown his business. He spent a good many years working in accounting, but in terms of character he’s a born salesman. He’s always thinking one or two steps ahead of his staff, so if they don’t catch what he’s doing they can end up being left for dust. He’s always got the pedal to the floor, which means that sometimes he can whip up a lot of dust and dirt in his wake. There’s also the adverse effect of too much speed. So sometimes, alternatives have to be suggested and changes—lots of changes—have to be made. But the fact that Ohshiro is known as a man who “gets things done” is thanks to his ability to adapt to the situation in hand. There are pluses and minuses about his way of doing things, but what’s certain is that his “speed management” has brought him a great deal of success so far.”

Above is an excerpt from the book Quenching the Thirst for Global Success, the Success Story of Hironari Ohshiro. It is filled with incredible lessons, motivational stories and the actions that were taken to create Enagic.

A must for distributors, it is available at www.enagic.com/shop

Cooking with Kangen

Creamy Kangen Rice with Lemon & Herbs

Ingredients:

- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 2 leeks (white and light green parts only), chopped
- 1 large onion, chopped
- kosher salt
- Pepper
- 2 large cloves garlic, finely chopped
- 1 1/2 c. Kangen Rice
- 1/2 c. dry white wine
- 1/2 c. fresh lemon juice (from about 2 large lemons)
- 2 c. chicken broth
- 2 c. 9.5 pH Kangen Water
- 1/2 c. sour cream
- 1/2 c. grated Parmesan
- 1/2 c. fresh flat-leaf parsley, chopped
- 1 tbsp. chopped fresh tarragon

Directions

1. Heat the oil in a large skillet over medium heat. Add the leeks and onion and cook, covered, stirring occasionally, until just tender, 6 to 8 minutes.
2. Stir in the garlic and cook for 1 minute. Add the rice, wine, lemon juice, and ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper and cook, stirring, until the wine is absorbed, about 2 minutes.
3. Add the chicken broth and Kangen Water and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, until the liquid has absorbed and the rice is tender, 18 to 20 minutes. Remove from heat and fold in sour cream, Parmesan, parsley, and tarragon

Perfect Pairings

To create a complete meal with this delicious spring Kangen Rice dish, pair it with your favorite protein and veggie. Dish a bed of the desired amount of rice on the plate and top with your protein of choice. Add veggies to plate, garnish and serve.

We recommend these two delicious combos; lemon pepper chicken breast with asparagus or lemon pepper salmon steak with French green beans with pan-fried shallots.

Health Hints

Realizing Financial Health

Mr. Ohshiro's concept of "True Health" is comprised of different aspects of health; physical, spiritual, mental and financial. He believes that, in order to achieve a true definition of "health", all of these components must be in harmony, resulting in what he defined as True Health. Most of the time the focus is put on the physical aspect of True Health, as it seems to be one of the areas where most people are having serious problems. However, we are discovering more and more that the financial health of most people is also in serious jeopardy. So, today we will discuss the aspect of Financial Health and why it is just as important as Physical Health when it comes to achieving your own True Health!

For most people, improved financial health is a gateway to other goals and dreams; it is closely tied to mental and physical health and family stability. More and more people have started to "connect the dots" between health and financial security, acknowledging the interdependence and importance of both. Mr. Ohshiro has known this for decades. People are also realizing that financial health is about more than simply having more money. It is about achieving goals and dreams.

While it is true that "money can't buy happiness", it can help reduce stress. Being worried all the time about bills and finances can take a toll on even the healthiest person. It has been proven that stress is a major contributing factor to acidosis and that financial worries are a major contributing factor to stress. The two seem to go hand in hand.

And it doesn't take becoming a millionaire or "rich" to reduce the stress created by financial woes. In some instances just a few hundred dollars more each month would alleviate a bulk of the stress some people experience each month due to financial concerns. Just a small additional "cushion" is all most people need in order to breathe a little easier.

Let's be realistic. How can a person be healthy if they are consumed with financial worries? Not only are they dealing with additional stress, but financial worries often turn into choices which may also result in poor health. Consider the food people eat. The reality is that the least expensive food choices are usually the worst ones for our health. High is sodium, refined sugars or preservatives. People end up making food choices to try to save money, which ultimately affect their health in a negative way. And all of these issues, financial and physical, definitely contribute to mentality. It's hard to be a positive person when it seems like everything is going wrong!

This is why Financial Health is such an important part of the True Health concept. It plays a huge role! So, if you understand that just a small cushion could help most people, imagine what a larger influx of income could achieve. The ability to worry less about financial matters, have more free time with friends and family, be able to help people you care about, be able to contribute more to your favorite charities or organizations, provide monies for education for your children, help your aging parents. The possibilities are endless and so are the rewards. Not having to worry about money and having the ability to help others can create harmony in your Financial Health, which can ultimately lead to your own True Health.
